

Protect patients from caries

Dental caries affects a huge number of patients. While improved oral hygiene is key to manage the condition and prevent its development in the future, there are other solutions your patients can utilise.

To protect them from caries, introduce the Curasept Biosmalto Impact Action Mousse, available from J&S Davis. Its unique formula enables rapid remineralisation and helps to prevent any further damage from acid erosion, acid attacks, mechanical abrasion and sensitivity.

The mousse can be applied chairside, offering added value during patient appointments, or they can take a 50ml tube home for continued use. It's SLS-free and vegan, plus is suitable for patients with a lactose intolerance.

Upgrade your endo

From COLTENE, the CanalPro Jeni motor enables safer, simpler canal preparation!

Revolutionary software allows it to operate like a traffic navigation system. Be guided through all the routes and obstacles, even in complex cases, the Jeni will adapt to the unique anatomy.

Here a beep? Time to irrigate! You will also hear an audible signal when a file change is recommended and the integrated apex locator will measure working length in real time, the entire time.

COLTENE manufactures high-quality tools and consumables; we want to save you time and money with our solutions.

Responsible waste disposal made easy

Are you still using plastic waste containers to dispose of your clinical waste?

Help tackle plastic pollution and make an eco-conscious choice by switching to Initial Medical's new rigid cardboard waste containers. A practical, cost-effective solution to your waste requirements, these containers are constructed from recycled cardboard and feature a high-density polyethylene liner. This ensures that they are suitable for dry and infectious waste.

As an added bonus, the containers are fold-flat and simply pop-up to assemble, helping to save space and guarantee easy construction. You can purchase yours online here: <https://www.initial.co.uk/>
