TRAINING FOR WHITENING

Do you have the necessary skills that the GDC are looking for to whiten your patients' teeth safely and effectively?

James Goolnik has been dealing for years with patients who have had their teeth permanently damaged by tooth whitening. He believes that now the GDC has relaxed the rules and allowed dental hygienists and therapists to carry out whitening treatments there may be more patients harmed. He believes they will need suitable training to safely carry out these procedures and teach their dentist what 'an adequate prescription' is. So much so that he has set up a company 'Smiles by James Goolnik' to specifically train dental hygienists and therapists in tooth whitening.

Based in central London trainees will spend a full day learning the theory of tooth whitening and then have hands-on practice of both power and home whitening. See www.nowsmile.com for further details and to book.
